Summer is here! Life is slowly returning to normal. More of us will be traveling again. Here are a few safety tips:

1. When traveling, make arrangements to have your mail and newspaper picked up.
2. Put a few of your lights on timers.
3. Ask a trusted friend or neighbor to check on your home.
4. When you are getting gas, lock your car while you are pumping it.
5. Remove valuables from your car and lock it. Theft from auto is still one of our biggest problems.

If you have a topic that you would like to discuss at a future meeting I can be reached at 301.937.3490 or karenmcoakley@msn.com.

Cub Pack 1031 has been busy! We hosted the Anacostia Watershed Cleanup with a small crew of 23 volunteers on April 24th. We collected 27 bags of trash and recycling and two tires. Great job crew! We will have another clean-up in early October and hopefully we will be able to have more participants.

All the scouts are well on their way to completing their ranks and the Lions and Wolf dens have almost finished their ranks. Great job scouts!!

We are looking to move to our summer outdoor activities. We will be hiking, biking, and exploring the outdoors and doing fun activities.

For the current time, our families will be working on achievements on Zoom with our den along with monthly meetings in the outdoors, and we keep it fun! We are out in the parks and on the trail when we can, wearing our masks, cleaning our hands, and staying 3 feet apart. We hope we can be back inside in the fall.

BCC Partners with Petco Love to Reunite Lost Pets with Their Families

Did you know that one in three pets goes missing in their lifetime - an estimated 10 million pets a year? Beltsville Community Cats (BCC) has joined forces with Petco Love (formerly the Petco Foundation), a national non-profit working to lead and inspire change for animals - and animal welfare groups across the country on a shared mission to help reunite lost pets with their families.

BCC is excited to adopt breakthrough technology from Petco Love to help find missing cats and dogs in Beltsville. Petco Love Lost is a new, searchable national database that uses patented facial recognition technology to make finding lost pets quicker and easier. This simple-to-use tool is easily accessible to participating animal organizations nationwide, as well as any pet parent or person who finds a lost pet. Uploaded photos of a missing dog or cat are immediately scanned to determine whether the lost pet is at a participating shelter or with a neighbor in the community.

“We see firsthand how quickly a pet can go missing, whether they were curious, following a scent, wandered through an open gate or became scared during a storm,” said Sallie Rhodes, BCC President. “There’s nothing more rewarding than reuniting families with their beloved pets and with Petco Love.”

How Great Thou Art

By Rev. Dr. Jalene Chase

How Great Thou Art is not part of the usual genre of music for my articles. I chose this hymn as my last submission as I prepare to leave pastoral ministry in the Beltsville area on June 30, 2021. I acknowledge that there are many faith traditions that read this paper, please journey with me.

Music is universal, it was my way of connecting to the community. The words express my faith; my faith guides my thoughts and actions. This song speaks of creation, spans many decades, and is loved by many. The lyrics remind me of the greatness of the world we live in. It evolved from a poem written by Carl Boberg around 1886, sung with a traditional Swedish melody. The inspiration for the nine-stanza poem came after Boberg was caught in a violent thunderstorm that ended with the return of beautiful sunshine and the singing of birds. It was translated into German, then into Russian, with different lyrics. The version I am familiar with was introduced in English in 1953 by Stuart Hine. The first verse and chorus make me appreciate life.

Oh Lord, my God! When I in awe wonder Consider all the worlds, they hands have made. I see the stars, I hear the rolling thunder, Thy power throughout the universe displayed. Then sings my soul, my Savior God to Thee. How great Thou art, how great Thou art.

Mercy
Mercy, like the rays of light
Spreading ‘cross the sky at dawn,
Starts a fire which ignites
Thankfulness within this one.

Rising to fulfill its part,
Chasing shadows from the earth,
Your delight invades
my heart
As the sun declares
Your worth.

Purifying, giving sight,
Opening my eyes to truth;
How can love not hold
You tight,
Singing at each glimpse of You?

Zealous is this righteous blaze,
Father’s kindness overflows,
For He sent His Son
to save
And cause gratefulness
to grow.

Jason’s Jive

In a lighter mood, I was having a conversation with a coworker towards the end of May, and I had a very random childhood memory. My late cousin, Gabriel, got scammed by a neighborhood bully. The bully, Ifeanyi, had extorted some money from my cousin and gave him some kind of eggs, in exchange. Gabriel was about eight or nine years old and Ifeanyi may have been two or three years older. Every day Gabriel would come home from school, and instead of going out to play, would spend his afternoons, watching the eggs, waiting for them to hatch. Eventually I think my Aunt realized Gabriel wasn’t going outside to play anymore and when she questioned him, he responded that he did not want to miss out on seeing his rabbit eggs hatch. Auntie had a hearty laugh and then had to point out to her son that rabbits don’t lay eggs...what did he know, at that age? The recollection of how the story was told, in the local Ibibio language was hilarious...and it took my coworker a while to come to the realization that rabbits don’t lay eggs.

I have to congratulate my son, Javin Inanga, who all the spate of a week, has turned 18 years old, a week later graduated from High School here in Dallas, and by God’s grace will be going on to College in the fall. It seems like yesterday, we had just brought him home from Sibley Memorial in DC and I could not get over the excitement of being a father. Now I am the father of a young adult, teaching how to drive a car among other things. Don’t worry I am not getting old. I am not feeling old… I now find myself adapting to interacting with him as a young adult. Nothing but the grace of God has brought me this far with Javin, and this includes us being hit by a tractor trailer on I-66 West in 2018 and God miraculously saved us. His side took the impact and all he got was a scratch on his finger and I got whiplash. The SUV was written off.

Summer Safety Tips for Your Pet

(StatePoint) From heat waves to fireworks, summer can take a toll on pets’ emotional and physical well-being. According to some pet experts, the heart of relief for a number of common seasonal pet woes is CBD. Here are some insights into how to use it, plus additional measures you can take for a safe, healthy summer with pets.

Fireworks and Thunder

Unexpected noises can be extremely frightening for pets, causing what’s known as situational stress. If possible, try administering Calming CBD-infused Edibles, which contains soothing and relaxing properties, about an hour before you expect fireworks or thunderstorms to occur. (Helpful hint: it can also be used to relieve situational stress associated with travel, guests, etc.)

Exercise also helps. Whether you take an extra-long walk or play fetch, wearing your pet out earlier in the day might help them stay calm or even sleep through noise disruptions. Additionally, you can prepare by setting up a quiet space for your pet, full of their favorite blankets and toys.

Finally, be mindful that pets often react to loud noises by running away. According to the ASPCA, one-in-five pets that go missing run off after hearing loud noises like fireworks. Bring cats indoors during storms and fireworks. If you must take a dog outside, keep them securely leashed. Microchips and up-to-date ID tags can help you safely reunite with your pet should they go missing.

Heat

If you’re sweating, there’s a good chance your pet is too. Keep pets hydrated by constantly refilling their bowls with fresh, clean water. Choose mornings or evenings for exercising with dogs to avoid the hottest part of the day. On scorchers, avoid pavé-pavement contact, letting your dog walk in the grass instead. If your pup’s paws do get affected by the hot pavement, applying a topical CBD solution such as Canna Care from Pet Releaf can help relieve the burn. Finally, beat the heat with regular grooming - however, don’t shave your pet’s fur — their coat protects them from sunburn.

Allergies

Allergies can wear pets down in numerous ways, including weakening their immune system. CBD hemp oil however can offer an immunity boost by activating the body’s two-way communication system between the brain and the immune system. A common allergy symptom is rash, which can cause pets to scratch and bite their skin, only worsening irritation. To treat rash, consider using CBD hemp oil to soothe skin irritations.

hip and Joint Discomfort

Summer may mean an uptick in multiple aches and pains for pets. Consider adding a beneficial supplement to your pet’s diet to keep them moving. Most pets enjoy a healthy dog treat now and then — look for a product such as Pet Releaf’s Hemp Treats, which can be a simple way to keep your pet feeling well this summer.

Ransomware

I am writing this in May of 2021. As I drive down US 1 here in Beltsville the gasoline prices have all jumped from about $2.40 a gallon to $3.00 and higher per gallon. The source of this increase was not a new middle east oil initiative it was computers infected with a special type of malware called ransomware. The ransomware shutdown a major pipeline carrying gasoline up most of the US east coast. These infected computers control the fluid flowing through the pipes and had to be shut down. Ransomware attacks have hit the City of Baltimore government, Baltimore County Public School System, the Washington DC police department, and the University of Maryland Medical System among many other nearby organizations. Ransomware criminals love to attack government institutions because many governments are not good at protecting their Information Technology infrastructure and can raise the money to pay the ransoms. Ransomware is a special kind of malware. It typically sits, hiding on a computer for months looking for other computers on the network to infect. After a period of time the malware triggers and begins to encrypt the files on all of the computers it has found. When the malware has finished encrypting the files it then shows a ransom message explaining what the software has done and asking for payment to get the keys needed to decrypt and restore the software. The payment is normally requested in Bitcoin or other cryptocurrency and sent to the criminals behind the scheme. If the criminals actually do what they promised (they don’t always) then normally an email is sent with the keys and the instructions on restoring the computers. The restoration process may take days and during this time the computers are not usable.

Many city governments across the country have been hit. A few recover quickly because they have established and enforce good IT policies for backing up their systems and having disaster recovery plans. This has caused the ransomware criminals to change their strategies. Now it is common for the ransomware to copy data off the victim network and store it in the Internet. The ransom note threatens to start releasing this data to the public or selling on the dark web if the ransom isn’t paid quickly. This threat means that private data stored on the system will be shared instead of protected. This is what is currently happening to the DC Police department. The criminals are releasing information about police informants and police personnel records to force the police to pay the ransom.

Many companies have started to purchase Cyber Insurance. Cyber Insurance is designed to cover a number of risks to a company’s IT environment, but Ransomware coverage is a popular option. Some policies will cover at least a portion of the ransom and the insurance companies have been known to negotiate lower ransoms with the criminals. This is a controversial practice because if the criminals continue to find the acts profitable then they will continue their attacks. Based on recent news reports, the group that attacked the pipeline was apparently paid 5 million dollars of the 51 million dollar requested ransom to get the information the Colonial Pipeline needed to restore their operations.

Smaller businesses and individuals may count on features of their Antivirus or Backup software to protect against Ransomware. This can prevent data loss but if you don’t want your files shared across the web or sold on the dark web then make certain you have good security policies and enforce them on your network. This includes anti-malware software, making regular backups that are kept offline, and requiring secure passwords to access each system on the network. Until next time, stay safe!

Memorial Day – A Day of Remembrance for Our Military Heroes

By Ivy Christoffers

Memorial Day is a day set aside to pay honor to those men and women who gave their all in defense of our country. This day sees ceremonies conducted throughout the country with pag- eneity, special speakers, laying of wreaths, and the wearing of poppies, the flower of remem- brance. The little red crepe paper poppy is distributed throughout the communities to schools, local government officials, and mili- tary hospitals and armed forces bases. Our local ceremony will take place in College Park at the intersection of Baltimore Avenue and Greenbelt Road at our veter- an’s memorial at 11:00 am on the last Monday in May. Lunch will follow at the American Legion Post Home, 9218 Baltimore Ave. Everyone is welcome and encour- aged to attend.

The post is finally open for business agian. It has been a long hard year for us, just as it has been for everyone. Friday night dinner dances have resumed, and friends are once again enjoying meet and greets while listening to and danc- ing to great music.

Remember, school will soon be over for this year and more chil- dren will be out and about so keep alert when driving the local roads. Keep our troops in your prayers and continue to seek God’s bless- ings on our precious America.

3 Hacks to Make More Time for Fun This Summer

(StatePoint) Even relaxation and fun take some preparation. But there’s no reason to work harder than you need to. Follow these hacks to get to the good stuff faster this summer.

Optimized Travel

Traveling by car this sum- mer? Road navigation apps like Waze combine GPS and real-time crowd-sourced information to help you find the best route based on traffic conditions. But remem- ber, sometimes the journey is also an opportunity for fun and there are apps for people who embrace that mindset. RoadTrippers, for example, can help you make the most of the mileag, as it offers information about scenic detours, local attractions and more.

Waterside Fun

Whether you’re hanging out poolside, lakeside or at the beach, faster, smarter set-up means there will be more time to unwind. Luckily, there is a brand new pool flotation technology designed to help you get out on the water fast- er. Check out SwimWays Spring Floats, an ultra-comfortable collection of foldable, portable fabric-covered floats that now have three times faster inflation and deflation with no pump needed. Their exclusive, patent-pending Hyper-Flate Valve Technology is engineered to increase airflow in while preventing airflow out to the float. This makes it easier for you to set up your float.

Summer Meals

When cooking is accompanied by fresh air and the sounds of nature, it will feel less like a chore and more like leisure. So don’t wait for holidays and special occasions to enjoy your backyard grill. You don’t even need to wait until the weekend. Select one day a week to do all your indoor meal prep. Then, make the most of summer evenings by grilling and dining outdoors all week long.

From road trips to pool excurs- ions, summer fun awaits, and with the right mindset and the best tools and gear, you can save time and energy on plans and prep.

The Unfailing Mercy of God
The mercy of God is sovereign and free. The mercy of God is said to be the manifestation of His love towards us. By His mercy God hath chosen us, by His mercy He has redeemed us, by His mercy He hath begotten us again unto a lively hope! His mercy is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear the Him. The bible says in Hebrews 4:16, “Let us then with confidence draw near to the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy and find grace to help in our time of need” (Hebrews 4:16) Beloved, in this beginning of the month, cry out for the mercy of God upon your life. We find peace in the music and the words, like the transition from a storm to the beautiful sunshine. My prayer is that we transition from chaos, seek peace, and live in awe of the God of our understanding during the process. Beltsville is now an inclusive place. Long gone is the law that forbids the sale of property to people who look like me. This multicultural, multiethnic, multigenerational, multi-religious, multi-economic, inclusive community is an example of how all can co-exist in the world. I will take this vision with me to my new appointment.

Although I am leaving, the good people of Emmanuel United Methodist Church will still be here. Until they re-enter the building, they will continue to meet virtually for worship on Sunday mornings at 10 am and Bible Study on Wednesdays. More information can be found on the webpage: www.eumcbeltsville.com or the Facebook page: www.facebook.com/groups/EUMC-Beltsville/. Until next time: Purposefully Exalt All Creation Every day

Entertaining Needs
Welcome friends and guests to a comfortable environment with the right picnic essentials. Stock up on sunscreen, blankets, napkins, plates, cups and tableware. Consider disposable picnic tableware, plate and cups for quick clean-up. During the day, set up umbrellas around the yard to make shady spots. When the sun begins to set, burn citronella candles to ward off mosquitoes. And don’t forget the tunes. Hook up a Bluetooth speaker to listen to a favorite summer playlist.

their everyday regimen, like Hip & Joint Edibites, which contains full-spectrum hemp extract with naturally occurring CBD, along with glucosamine and chondroitin, a combination known to help maintain normal healthy cartilage and joint function, as well as support joint flexibility and mobility. Depending on your pet’s health needs, you may want to upgrade to a higher potency CBD product like a hemp oil that you can massage onto their joints.

Unsure which CBD solution will work best for your pet? Check out Pet Releaf’s Product Finder tool at petreleaf.com/product-finder, which factors in age, weight, level of discomfort and wellness needs. Use the code RELEAF25 through July 31, 2021 to receive 25% off and free shipping.

With the right tools and knowledge, you can support your pet’s wellness this summer and protect them from common seasonal health and safety hazards.

ment. She said her teenage daughter got up and told her she did not want to do her nails anymore, and besides that she was not comfortable. Apparently, the female nail technician was on her cell phone talking to somebody and was videotaping, live, her teenage client. The teenager said she saw the male at the other end give a thumbs up to the nail technician. The girl went to the car and locked herself in there until her mother came out. She explained to her mother what had transpired. Long and short of it is that law enforcement had to be called in, to take control of a charged atmosphere. Nobody is sure what the intent of the nail technician was, but human trafficking is very real, especially here in Texas. I put this out there so you, my reader, can be vigilant at all times. Things happen when we least expect them to.

As we go through the month of May into June, please be a bit more alert when you drive, as we have a new set of drivers on the road, a lot of them inexperienced. High School graduation has a lot of new drivers who have to be weaned into everyday driving. Next month – what mischief did Jason get into, in his High School Years? Find out next month. That’s The Jive!
