Emmanuel UMC to Hold Annual Blessing of the Animals on October 9 at 10 am

But ask the animals, and they will teach you, or the birds in the sky, and they will tell you. -Job 12:7

Animal blessing is a special ceremony conducted in remembrance of St. Francis of Assisi’s love for all creatures. St. Francis considered animals to be his brothers and sisters, saying, “All praise to you, Oh Lord, for all these brother and sister creatures.” For many people, a pet is a member of the family. Animals experience emotions such as happiness, love, fear, or loneliness just like human beings.

Join the members of Emmanuel and the surrounding community on Oct. 9 at 10 am on the front lawn of Hamilton United Methodist Church.

Cub Pack 1031 is Off to a Great Year!

By Regina Halper

Cub Pack 1031 had their Join Scouting event on September 17th. We did our Stomp Rocket launch with paper rockets. We also “raced” like kangaroos, crabs, frogs, and inchworms! We learned Leave No Trace rules with hand signs and had fun getting to know new families.

This summer we hiked and biked, launched rockets at Goddard Visitors Center, worked on STEM NOVA achievements-flying paper airplanes and raced balloon Raingutter boats.

It is not too late to join just contact Regina Halper at Pack1031cubscouting@gmail.com for information. We are a family scouting unit. We learn outdoor skills, citizenship, STEM, nature and do service.

We look forward to having another fantastic year!! We are back in Beltsville Academy for our den meetings though we will be camping, doing service and hiking in the outdoors. We are mask optional and still cautiously progressing toward regular meetings.

Enjoy a Good Mystery This Halloween with UpStage Artists!

UpStage Artists is preparing for its final show of the 2022 season, Agatha Christie’s most popular mystery, And Then There Were None. The play is “A dark thriller in three acts. One of Christie’s darkest tales and a masterpiece of dramatic construction, its growing sense of dread and unfaltering tension will keep you guessing to the very end.” It opened on Broadway on June 27, 1944, and now, 78 years later, it is gracing a stage in Beltsville!

The play begins when ten strangers are summoned to a remote island. All that the guests have in common is a wick past they’re unwilling to reveal and a secret that will seal their fate. For each has been marked for murder. As the weather turns and the group is cut off from the mainland, the bloodbath begins and one by one they are brutally murdered in accordance with the lines of a sinister nursery rhyme.

This is UpStage’s 3rd show this year and they are looking forward to finishing their season with a good, old-fashioned murder mystery. Come out and join them for this incredible Who Done It?

Show dates are October 28, 29, November 4 and 5 at 7:30 pm and October 30 and November 6 at 2:30 pm. You can buy your tickets for $12 at www.upstageartists.com/tickets today! UpStage Artists sincerely appreciates all the support that the Beltsville Community has given to their program.

Tree Planted in Memory of Kimberly Weber

A tree was planted on the grounds of St. Joseph’s Catholic School in memory of Kimberly Weber who lost her battle with breast cancer one year ago, Mr. Russo, Mrs. Alexander and custodian John Holloman donated the beautiful tree. Kimberly loved St. Joseph’s and worked hard on school fundraisers, including starting the Longaberger Basket bingo that raised money to replace the school ground equipment, computers, art supplies, etc. Kimberly’s eldest daughter, Ashley, graduated from St. Joseph’s Catholic School and will graduate from the University of Maryland in December. The other three children, Austin, Aimee and Aspen now attend St. Joseph’s.

Letter to the Editor

Description: This project consists of rehabilitating Rhode Island Avenue in three phases, from MD 193 to US Route 1. Phase I, which is complete, involved constructing a signalized intersection with turn lanes at Edgewood Road, the construction of traffic calming measures, related intersection improvements, bicycle trail/shoulder lanes and the resurfacing of the roadway. Phase I also included minor improvements to the Rhode Island Avenue at Sunny Side Avenue intersection. The total project length is approximately 11,000 feet from MD 193 north to US Route 1. Phase II will involve further improvements between US Route 1 and Edgewood Road. Phase III will extend from Edgewood Road to MD 193.

As you can see in this photo, without a sidewalk on this section of Rhode Island Avenue, it is very dangerous for bikers and pedestrians.

Information referenced about phase III in the letter to the editor.

Dear Editor,

Ever since 1996, I always wondered why the short section of

Rhode Island Avenue, just over the College Park city line at Paducah

Street, becomes a country road from there up to Sunny Side where the sidewalks return on BOTH sides of the street. The College

Park sidewalk, up to Paducah on the east side of the street, suddenly ends in a guard rail jungle and the more recent College Park bike lane

grinds to a halt. I called the USDA

Maintenance Department about this section of Rhode Island Ave, unheeded then, since it is their property that borders on both sides of the R.I. street from Paducah up to Sunny Side, which is Federal land. They refused to consider any sidewalk continuation or even some extension of their pathway in to the USA. The pedestrian traffic at all hours is a daily occurrence since there is a bus stop on Sunny Side, with many of those bus riders apparently walking south into College

Park from there or walking north ing, who are almost impossible to see until almost on top of them.

Driving home after dark, very often there are people walking next to the road wearing dark or black clothing, a most dangerous situation

I now regard as USDA property.

What I find the scariest is when

I call the USDA Office of Public Works to report a danger, to be told it is their responsibility.

Phone calls to PG Highway Maintenance Departments have gone unheeded

since then. A few years later, I opened an office in the Sunny Side

Building for our nonprofit institute

and often bike to the office, even

and often bike to the office, even

Building for our nonprofit institute

and took it to the editor.

Cats Prepare for Winter Too!

It’s hard to believe it’s that time of year again! Leaves are starting to fall, pumpkin-spiced lattes, donuts and cookies are everywhere, and the Autumn chill is in the air. The task of pulling our winter coats from the back of the closet and dusting them off and pulling out our warmest sweaters is something humans do to prepare for the frosty days ahead.

Cats are starting to prepare for those dropping temperatures too! By October and November, most cats start breaking out their warm and furry winter coats. Is it the pumpkin spice in the air that alerts our beloved kitties to bust out their new winter fur? Well... as all cat owners know, our cats might have small-sized brains, but there is a lot happening in there! As daylight gets shorter, a cat’s pituitary gland, which is pea-sized and located in the bottom of the brain, pumps out several different hormones that switches on a cat’s behavioral response to grow a new coat. And that switches on a cat’s stored fat reserves and general health determines their ability to withstand low temperatures, including those cold floors we ourselves don’t like walking on. So, make some warm cuddly places around the house for your beloved feline and don’t forget to provide an outdoor shelter that is out of the wind as well. So for all your decorating needs including Wallpaper, Benjamin Moore Paint, Chalk and Milk Paint, Draperies and Flooring. Call 301-937-6100 for Advice and In-home Service

So, in the winter, a cat’s undercoaticles closer together to keep warm or spread them apart to keep cool. So, in the winter, a cat’s undercoat traps air and keeps it toasty. The longer guard hairs protect the kitty from moisture and the sun’s ultraviolet radiation. So, that dastardly cat fur we all vacuum, lint roll and generally dislike is pretty magical, isn’t it? Well... maybe not so much...

As you can imagine, the thickness of a coat, a cat’s stored fat reserves and general health determines their ability to withstand low temperatures, including those cold floors we ourselves don’t like walking on. So, make some warm cuddly places around the house for your beloved feline and don’t forget to provide an outdoor shelter that is out of the wind as well. County Council, Politics, and Development

Because the County Council is responsible for local land-use decisions, including the Beltsville area, a lot of local politics revolves around development issues. And, while every county’s General Plan of development for the past 60 years has prioritized Smart Growth principles and had policies to rein in sprawl, not one single plan has ever successfully prevented ever-consuming sprawl. So, it is no surprise that at the end of one council’s term of office and with the incoming council dedicated to Smart Growth, there would be a flurry of legislative and political activity.
The last couple of weeks after the summer recess have seen a flurry of legislation being rushed through the process so that they may be enacted before the end of the term. For example, one bill eliminates most of the Council’s authority to hear zoning and site plan cases, and another would preclude amendments to the zoning ordinance without a supermajority (this bill was pulled). This second bill was intended to make it harder to enact Smart Growth policies.
Several other bills propose developer-friendly amendments to the brand-new Zoning Ordinance that effectively loosens regulations on certain properties by allowing developers to access or apply for looser regulations than the new ordinance would permit.
All of this, and even more,
has been very controversial. The good news is that it has engaged a substantial number of public members around development,
environment, and climate issues.
Fairland Regional Park Ready to Expand
When the Konterra Town Center’s site plan was approved a dozen years ago, Konterra was required to dedicate over 40 acres of land to Fairland Regional Park across from the skating rink and the pool. However, the timing for the transfer was tied to Konterra subdividing its property to break ground. Between the fiscal crisis and the more recent demise of retail stores, Konterra Town Center has been on hold waiting for design, amenity economics to sort itself out.
Now, Konterra is processing its first two rezoning development applications and is ready to dedicate the land to the park. The Council Member expects Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission (M-NCPPC) to develop a variety of athletic fields, but I also expect M-NCPPC to update its Fairland Regional Park
Master Plan which will include a community engagement process.
Stay tuned.

will ensure gas stations will not be bunched together in abundance
nor near residential neighborhoods

Neighbors in the News

Beltsville Resident Recognized as Social Health Awards winner

Beltsville Resident Elle Cole, who is a caregiver for a daughter with sickle cell disease and type 1 diabetes, was recently recognized as a Social Health Awards winner, which honors patient and caregiver leaders who are essential to the ongoing conversations and connections made through social health. Ms. Cole was recognized as the “Caregiving Champion” this year!

The Social Health Awards are selected by Health Union. According to their website “Health Union was started in 2010 by two pharmaceutical industry colleagues and friends, who understood the untapped potential to leverage technology in ways that would enable people living with chronic conditions to learn, connect and share in meaningful and impactful ways.” They are based in Philadelphia, PA.

According to Ms. Cole’s story on wegohealth.com, “I am a mom of twin daughters, one of whom is living with both Sickle Cell Disease and Type 1 Diabetes. I serve as a parent health advocate for both illnesses, and recently authored, “A Sickle Cell Coloring Book for Kids,” which is an A to Z guide for growing up with Sickle Cell Disease.” She was one of six finalists in the Caregiving Champion category and among the hundreds nominated for Health Union’s inaugural Social Health Awards (previously known for 10 years as the WEGO Health Awards). You can learn more about Ms. Cole and her family on her website cleverlychanging.com.

Using your Tools: The Browser

We have been back to school for a few weeks now and I thought it might be time to learn how to better use your computer and the software it includes. The most common software used for most home computers is the Internet browser. Depending on your computer and your personal choice the browser is likely to be one or more of Google Chrome, Firefox, Microsoft Edge, or Apple Safari. There are other choices but these four represent 85% of the browser traffic going to Wikipedia as of October 2021 with all the remaining browsers each having less than a 2% share. The web browser is the tool used to access the World Wide Web on the Internet.

Web Browser Choices

First let me answer a personal question, my personal choice of browser is Firefox which I use on my Linux and Windows computers and my Android phone. My reason for using Firefox is that in my experience it provides the most privacy and protection of the major browsers. Chrome is the most popular browser with more users than all the other browsers combined. I used Chrome on the handful of Linux systems that I have that do not support Firefox. My primary issue with Chrome is that Google’s primary business is selling advertisements and it is difficult to turn these off on the Chrome browser. Microsoft Edge is Microsoft’s replacement for Internet Explorer. If you are still using Explorer please stop now, it is no longer supported and is not safe to use on the Internet. Edge is built on top of the same codebase as Google Chrome but has Microsoft “enhancements.” Safari is currently specific to Apple products and other vendors must use a browser based on Apple’s WebKit libraries the same as Safari. This means that only the appearance of the application is different if you use Firefox or Chrome and you do not get the advantages of the other JavaScript or HTML rendering engines.

The Tool Bar

Working down from the top, most browsers offer a “tab” orient-ed interface. Each tab represents a different webpage and selecting a tab changes the view to that page. Holding the mouse cursor on the tab allows the tab to be moved (dragged) into a different place left, or right of its current position. Right clicking with the mouse brings down a menu of choices which varies slightly between browsers. The choices often include closing the tab or moving it to a new browser window and may also include moving the tab into a new browser window. The “pin” menu choice will stick the tab in place, so it stays open in the browser.

3G is Going Away – What it Means for You

(StatePoint) Similar to how the ways we listen to music and watch movies have changed, cellular net-works are evolving too. In fact, all major wireless providers plan to shutter their 3G cellular networks this year.

3G networks are the wireless equivalent of being on dial-up internet access years ago. Built in the early 2000s, 3G networks are slower, less efficient, and not equipped to support the way we use smartphones today. Americans increasingly depend on their abil-ity to connect to the internet for just about everything and the latest generation of wireless, 5G, is capa-ble of delivering massively faster speeds, enabling and improving everything we rely on our smartphones to do.

As wireless companies continue to invest in building out their 5G networks, 3G networks will be shut down to make room for this new technology and, ultimately, deliver a vastly superior wireless experi-ence. That’s because there’s a lim-ited supply of available spectrum -- the airwaves that wireless signals use. Wireless companies can take the airwaves once used for 3G and start using them to add more band-width to 5G. And more spectrum means better coverage and faster speeds for consumers.

If you have a phone that still relies on 3G, your wireless pro-vider will contact you before their planned shutdown, and you’re most likely eligible for a free device upgrade. Even if your phone isn’t from the 3G era, if you aren’t yet one of the millions who’ve upgraded to 5G, the end of 3G means it’s time to trade up for a new device that can take full advantage of faster 5G networks, according to industry experts. Keeping affordability and connectivity in mind, wireless pro-viders are always offering deals.

Research 5G coverage and speeds from the providers where you live and like to travel. The wireless industry has changed sig-nificantly since the 3G era, so you may be surprised to learn which network is delivering the fastest and most reliable coverage today. T-Mobile was the first wireless provider in the United States to launch nationwide 5G and, thanks to its merger with Sprint in 2020, 5G continues on page 11.

How to Protect Yourself and Your Family From Preventable Diseases

(StatePoint) Both in the United States and globally, childhood and adult vaccination rates have seen what community health experts are calling a “concerning decline” since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic. Now is the time to ensure that you and your children are up to date on all recommended vaccines to best protect you and your family from preventable diseases.

"Vaccines are among the greatest medical breakthroughs in the history of medicine. Millions of lives have been saved and severe outcomes from various diseases have been prevented because of vaccines. At this moment, in part because of people missing routine immunizations during the COVID-19 pandemic and in part because of misinformation around vaccines, our vaccination numbers have declined, which has impacted certain populations who are more susceptible to vaccine-preventable diseases. I urge you to check with your physician, schedule that preventive screening, and make sure you and your children are up to date on your vaccines," says Jack Resnek Jr., M.D., president of the American Medical Association.

According to Dr. Resnek, here are three steps to take to get back on track:

1. Schedule routine visits with your and your child’s physicians for important preventive care, including recommended health screenings and vaccines based on age and health status. Babies and young children are especially susceptible to vaccine-preventable diseases, and right now, tens of thousands of children in the U.S. are not up to date on their vaccination against extremely contagious diseases, such as measles and whooping cough.

2. You should also make sure that you and your children are up to date on COVID-19 vaccines. Experts have cautioned about a possible surge this fall and winter.

With new Omicron-specific bivalent boosters available for people 12 and older, the time for additional protection from severe outcomes from COVID-19 is now. Additionally, all children aged 6 months and up are eligible for the COVID-19 vaccine, and physicians highly recommend getting vaccinated as early as possible. You can get a COVID-19 vaccine and a flu vaccine at the same time if you are eligible, and the timing coincides. For more information on COVID-19 vaccines, visit: https://www.cdc.gov/vaccines

her Legislative Assistant Matt Der- noga, and Chief of Staff Brigitte did nothing. In fact, Matt suggested in 2011 that “these improvements are difficult to achieve and rarely happen overnight.” In 2014, I actually tried to coerce some highway workers into adding sidewalks to their CUB installation project on Rhode Island to no avail. The curb they installed at the corner near my office has now made a lake formation take place in the street after every heavy rain, just south of Sunny Side on Rhode Island Avenue.

In 2018, Jasmine Smith at the State Highway Administration said they “will look into it.” Then in 2019, by chance I approached Delegate Joseline Pena-Melnyk at the College Park Post Office and subsequently sent her a complete collection of the correspondence regarding the Rhode Island issue. She instructed me to contact Councilman Thomas Dernoga which I did, who then referred me to his Chief of Staff Michelle Garcia, who also received my detailed emails with maps of the R. I. section desperately needing a make-over. Michelle promptly responded in September, 2019 calling it the “Valone Matter” with a promise that “The Councilmember will write to you directly.” Two years later in 2021, Councilman Fazul Kabir emailed me that other residents had also interest in sidewalks on that section of Rhode Island. He also included “Mr. Martin Harris, the Acting Director of DPW&T, and Councilmember Dernoga” in the email. So, on December 17, 2021 Councilmember Thom- as Dernoga really did email me about work he proposed in 2003. He added at the end that “I will advocate with the administration to prioritize what remains of phase 3 (Paducah to Route 1) in the upcoming capital budget program” (my emphasis). However, what struck me about this politically obfuscated jargon about a newly added proposal is that the short stretch of Rhode Island from Paducah to Sunny Side, has now expanded considerably so he seems to be adding a larger chunk to some “capital budget program” than is needed, which may add more delay. Surprising, a contradictory Proposed Capital Improvement Program & Budget released in 2021 (p. 230 attached) with its $1 million for Rhode Island only indicates that “Phase III will extend from Edge- wood Road to MD 193” which is south of Beltsville and entirely in College Park.

Maybe Senator Jim Rosapepe will help install sidewalks and a bike lane on a little Beltsville country road hiding in plain sight.

Thomas Valone, PhD, PE

Beltsville Voter Guide

Dear Beltsville neighbors,

For the past four years, we have represented you in the Maryland legislature. We’ve done our best to help working and retired families — and keep Beltsville a good place to live.

We’re running for re-election on the Democratic ticket along with great nominees for federal, state, and county offices, listed here. We would appreciate your support.

Also on the ballot are important county bond issues referenda to invest in our local schools, libraries, and roads, and changes to the state constitution and county charter. We support all of them.

If you have questions or would like to discuss any of the candidates or ballot questions, call us at 240-712-4646 or email 21stDistrictDelegation@gmail.com.

Many thanks!

Page 10 • The BELTSVILLE NEWS • OCTOBER 2022
Texas is an interesting place. This week, a grocery chain, H.E.B opened a large store in the Frisco part of North Dallas. An unprecedented crowd showed up. Local news was mentioning it as the first person in the line got there at 6 p.m. the night before and waited 1 hour for the official opening. An estimated crowd of over 1500 people stood in line and the weather has not been kind to us, with temperatures hovering in the ninety-degree region. All this for a grocery store! Imagine a super-market like Safeway opening a branch and one stands in line for many hours, just to go and shop. H.E.B is traditional to Texas, so there is all the excitement. I will visit one of these days but for now, I love my Walmart and El Rancho (a Latino store).

Also on the news, this month, you would have heard about how police were tipped off about a potential shooting threat, and subsequently, two teenagers were taken into custody when they showed up to a local sports event in a car that had a submachine gun and plenty ammunition. They intended to shoot people at the event, in what would have been a very random premeditated massacre. If you have ever lived in Texas, high school sporting events are a big deal – hundreds of people show up in support. Readers I have a problem with my garden, AGAIN! When I lived in Beltsville near High Point High School, I had issues with deer and my attempts to grow a garden. They would eat up all my stuff. Recently in Dallas I decided to try and do a few flowers in the front of my home, and the rabbits have decided to show up in their numbers and strip my flowers. I can never win with these animals.

As a teacher, it is a thing of pride when one sees that the time one puts in, working with the young, pays off. I type this and look back with pride to my younger days when I taught English Language and Literature in Brooklyn, New York, and in St. Kitts, where I taught 6th Formers (the equivalent of 12th grade), essay writing on current affairs. (Under the British style of education in the Caribbean, it is known as GP – General Paper). I have former students who have excelled in their respective fields. I have flown on airplanes commercially, with pilots I taught when they were little 15-year-olds. Some are medical doctors, engineers, international soccer referees, models, and much more. However, in the month of August, elections were held in St. Kitts-Nevis and the candidate from the Labor Party, won his seat and emerged as the new Prime Minister of St. Kitts-Nevis. So, I officially congratulate Prime Minister Terrence “Umii” Drew who is now the Prime Minister of the twin island federation. I taught him in 6th Form – very humble and eager to learn about other lands and places. I wish him well. He is in his mid-40’s.

This month, another student of mine, Nerys Chiverton, whom I taught as a little 15-year-old, has been appointed as the Permanent Representative of St. Kitts-Nevis to the United Nations Mission in New York. She just turned 42 years old, the day after the appointment – the perfect birthday gift.

I will wrap up with a very interesting story. Earlier this week, I had to go to my doctor for a checkup and as part of the deal, I had to fast from the night before since they would be doing lab work. As soon as I was finished at my doctor’s office, I drove two minutes to the nearest Chick Fil A, to eat a well-deserved breakfast. If you know me, I have a hair challenge that is ongoing – some describe it as baldness. Do not laugh at me. I am due for a haircut so there are visible signs of grey hair on my head and my goutier. Anyway, I order my meal and the young lady at the counter gave me a senior discount. In my mind, I could not believe that is what she thought of me. The scary part of this is knowing that in a few years, those discounts will become regular. I do not want to get older, just yet. Wish I could go back to being 30 years old… sigh Gas used to cost $1.51 a gallon back then. Have a nice safe month ahead.

Why You Should Plan Ahead This Heating Season

(StatePoint) Between the Russian invasion of Ukraine and sky-high oil and gas prices, a significant pellet fuel supply shortage is likely this winter season. Industry experts say you should plan ahead and secure your supplies for the cold winter months. The good news is that, currently, there is plenty of supply to stock up upon.

As Tim Portz, executive director of the Pellet Fuels Institute explains, Russia is the second largest producer of wood pellets globally, supplying more than 2 million tons to global markets in 2020. But sanctions and restrictions due to the invasion of Ukraine have required U.S. pellet producers to fill the gap.

What’s more, the sticker shock Americans may experience this winter when reviewing their energy bills will likely have many switching to pellet heating in search of a better deal, and those with multiple heating options may start opting for pellets, putting extra demand on potentially short supplies.

“Wood pellet demand fluctuates year to year, however with heating oil, natural gas, electric and propane prices at near historic highs, we could see record sales of pellets in 2022-2023,” says Portz. “Consumers will need to be savvy. To ensure their annual supply is secured, they should stock up now.”

Wood pellets are used as a primary or secondary space heat in more than 1 million homes nationwide. Pellets are a renewable, clean-burning fuel made from the waste streams generated by the manufacturers of products like dimensional lumber, hardwood flooring, wood pallets and cabinetry. Although supplies are strong right now, pellet manufacturers are highlighting the importance of keeping inventory moving through the system.

With the capacity to produce more than 1 million tons of wood pellets each year, Lignetics Group, the largest residential wood pellet manufacturing company in the United States, notes that taking advantage of the surplus while it lasts will allow producers to run at full throttle and build inventory before usage begins to outpace production in the depths of winter.

Because pellets are competitive- ly priced nationwide, consumers who opt for this method of heating will save hundreds of dollars over the course of a winter season compared to heating oil or propane, and thousands of dollars compared to electric heat.

“Many have already turned to wood pellet heating and many more are expected to do so amid the current energy crisis,” says Brett Jordan, CEO of Lignetics Group. “However, these consumers will need to take their wise choice a step further by being prepared. Fueling up now on your normal pellet supply will mean being able to take advantage of this sustainable and cost-efficient option all winter.”

1. Understand that every country once declared polio-free or measles-free are not risk-free, particularly for the unvaccinated. An adult in New York was recently partially paralyzed by polio, and the virus has been found in area wastewater samples, leading to the declaration of a disaster in the state to help support localities in responding to the outburst.

2. Understand that even countries with high vaccine coverage rates back to where they were before the pandemic began, we run the risk of seeing outbreaks of vaccine-preventable diseases that we thought we’d long ago overcome,” says Dr. Resneck. “To protect yourself and your family from current and future outbreaks, get up to date on vaccinations now.

Women’s Club of Beltsville Celebrates 100 Years

By Karen Cookley

Exciting news, the Women’s Community Club of Beltsville is celebrating our 100th Anniversary! Maud Dann formed the club in 1922. Why, you ask? Maud’s husband was a member of the newly formed Citizen’s Association. Maud asked if she could join and was told “No, the Citizen’s Association was for men only.” Maud did not like the answer, so she invited 40 women from Beltsville to join her in creating the Women’s Community Club of Beltsville. Our Motto is In Essentials, Unity: in nonessentials, Liberty: In all things, Charity.

The next icons are often a house (sometimes confused with a fat up arrow) and a circular arrow. The house icon (if it appears) is used to navigate to your home page. Your home page can be changed in the browser settings. Chrome defaults to google.com while Edge comes with the default setting to a Bing related page with search and news articles. The home icon may or may not appear. If the home icon is missing it can be added back through the settings menu on most browsers.

The circular arrow has a special purpose, it refreshes the page if it has changed. Technically, it sends a new request to the web server asking for the contents to be re-sent whether the contents have been changed. This is often useful if a page hasn’t rendered correctly, and you want to try again.

The next area on the tool bar allows text to be entered and it is called the address or address/search bar. This is where a web URL can be entered to directly navigate to a page on the web. All the browsers used to have a search bar that allowed a search to be performed immediately. Some browsers allow this to be re-enabled. The default however is that if text is entered into the address bar and not recognized as an URL it will be sent to the selected search engine and the browser will return the search results.

The icons that follow are likely to be different on each browser. The right most icon will normally be three short lines or dots stacked vertically. Selecting this icon will bring you to the browser settings menu. To the left of this you may find an image of a face or a place holder for one. This allows you to sign-in to the browser maker, Google for Chrome, Mozilla for Firefox, and Microsoft for Edge. Google and Microsoft use the log-in to help them track you across different devices and all of them will use it to synchronize the data they store for you like passwords, addresses and web form information across devices. I make it a habit to always log out here when I need to use the web privately.

Wrap Up
I am out of room for more this month. Next month is the Christmas Shopping column so I will pick up part 2 after that. In part 2 we will talk about important settings, private browsing, bookmarking, and add-ons and extensions. I am considering a future column on how to get value from your spreadsheet and how to use your Word processor like a writer. Let me know if you are interested in topics like this.
